Cuba MIGs Attack US Shrimp Boat

Kennedy Tells US Armed Forces To Prevent Recurrence

New Assault Reheats Tensions Over Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy ordered the armed forces today "to take all necessary action" to prevent a recurrence of Wednesday's rocket attack by Cuba-based MIG planes on an American shrimp boat.

Kennedy's action was announced by the White House, which attributed the attack in the Florida Straits to "Cuban aircraft."

The President's policy has been one of isolation aimed at putting Cuba under heavy economic pressures internally.

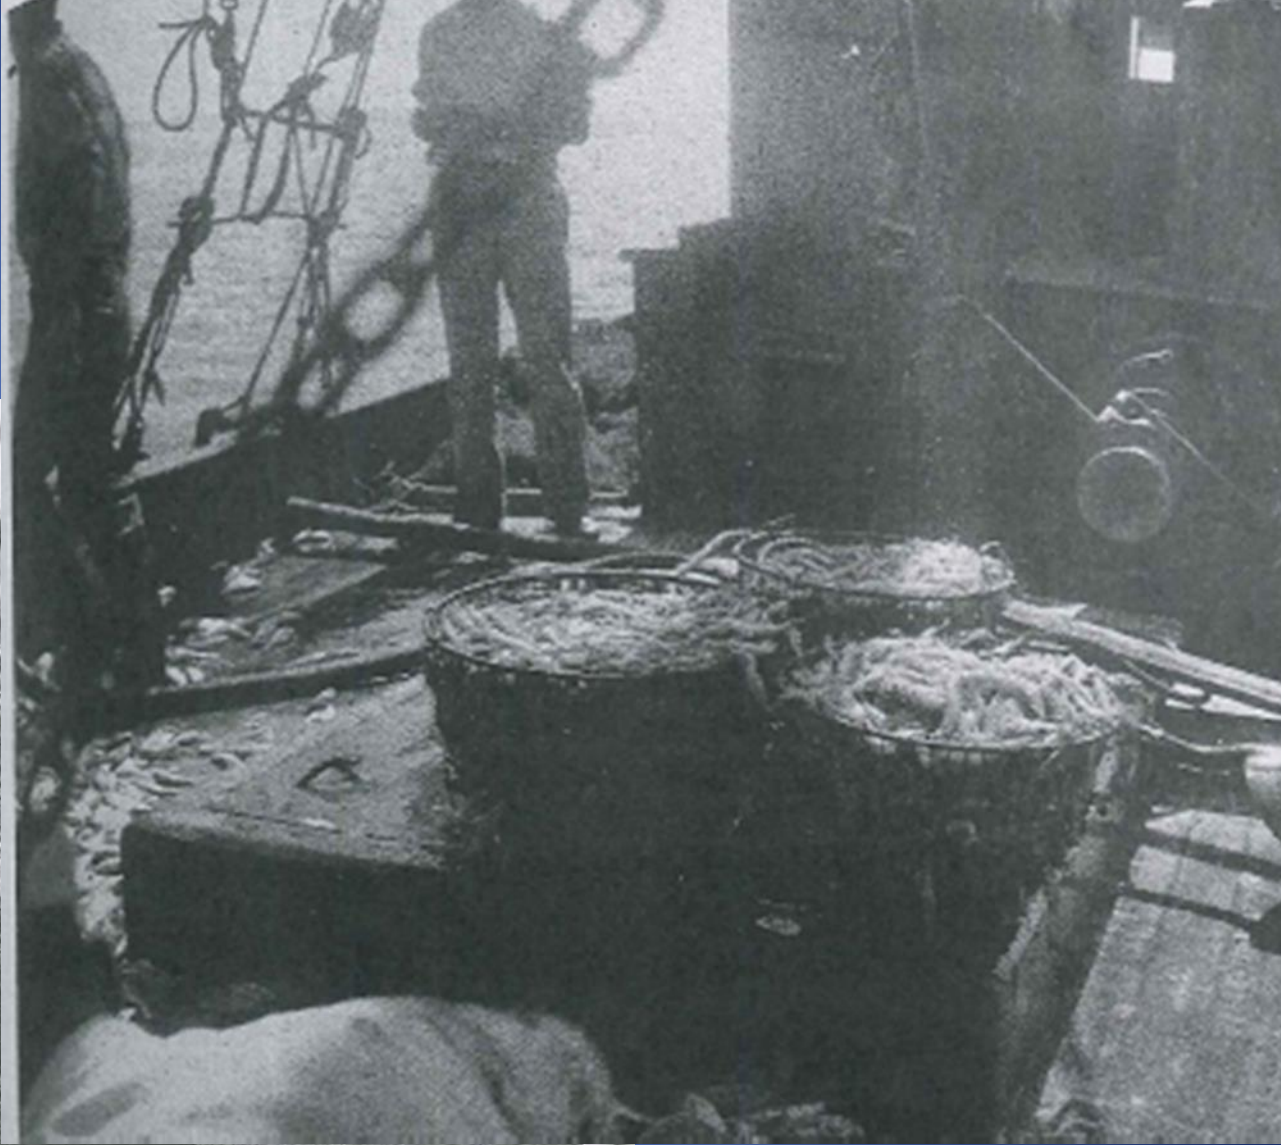

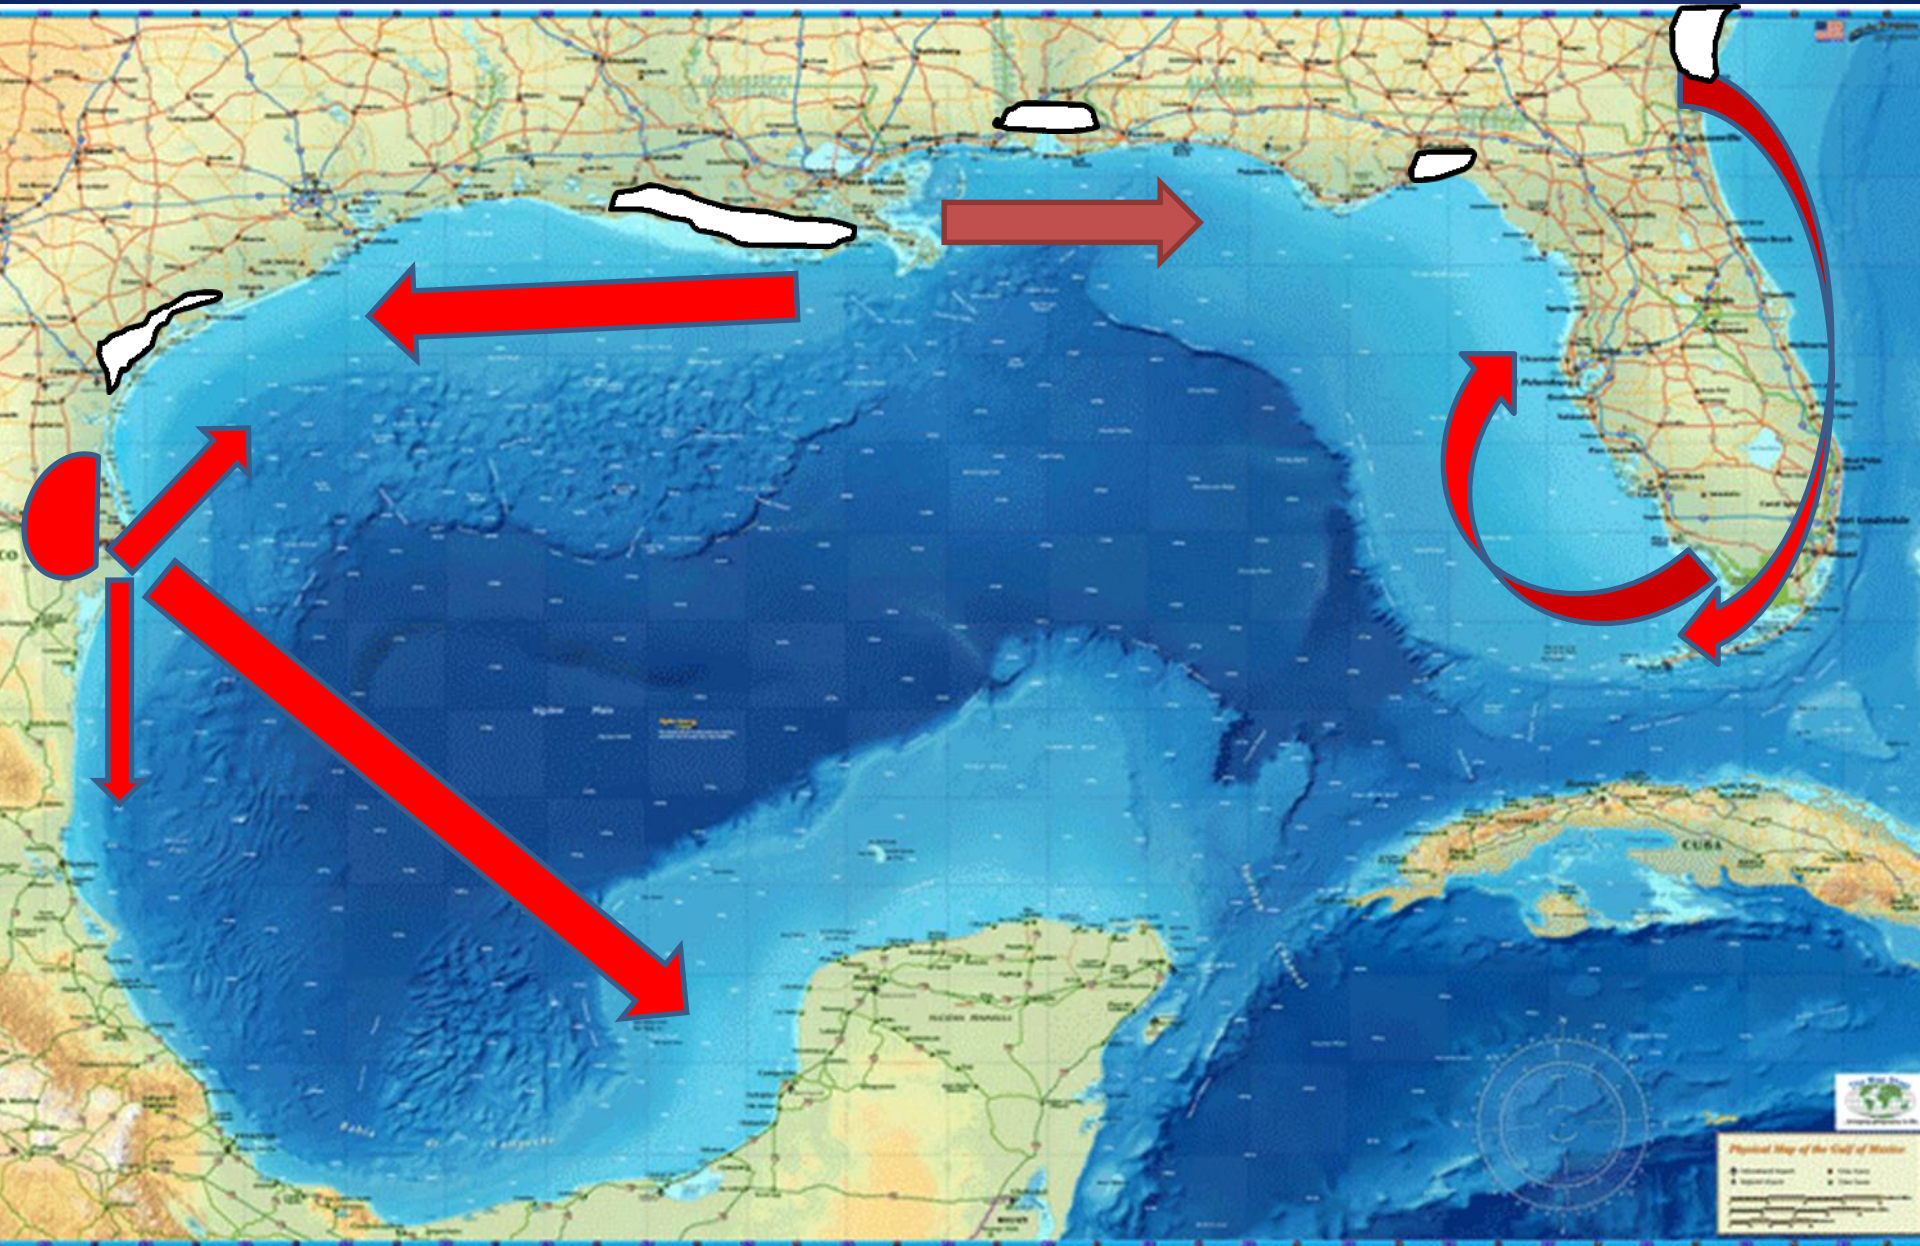

A detailed physical map of the Gulf of Mexico region, showing the coastline of Mexico, Central America, and the Caribbean Sea. The map features a color gradient representing bathymetry, with lighter blues for shallow waters and darker blues for deeper areas. Several coastal features are highlighted with thick red outlines: the Gulf of California on the west coast of Mexico; the Gulf of Campeche and the Yucatán Peninsula's coast; the Gulf of Honduras and the Bay Islands off the northern coast of Central America; and the Florida Peninsula's coast, including the Gulf of Florida and the Florida Bay area. The text "Pre-World War II Shrimping Confined to Bays and Inlets" is overlaid in white on the central part of the Gulf. A legend in the bottom right corner identifies symbols for international ports, state ports, and various types of navigational aids like buoys and lights. A compass rose is also present in the bottom right.

To remind its readership of something warm and tasty, the Chicago Sun Times published this photograph on December of 1962. Taken in Key West, this image illustrates the boom in the shrimping industry throughout the southeast. Fishing grounds around the Tortugas produced some of the cleanest catches with the biggest shrimp and from 1949 until 1957, was probably the most productive shrimp fishery in the world. During the late 1950s decreases in the catch prompted the state of Florida to implement controlling regulation on the grounds to protect the species. However, the shrimp fleet was flush with boats in this photograph, many of which were constructed in St. Augustine.

Federal Launch Will Probe New Gulf Shrimp Beds

PASCACOUOLA, Miss. — (AP) — Equipped with large size commercial fishing gear, the government motor cruiser Oregon will begin deep water explorations in the middle Gulf next week.

Departure of the U. S. fish and wildlife service vessel was delayed awaiting arrival of the equipment. Stewart Springer, engineer in charge, said he expects the cruise will open up new commercial fishing grounds.

The Oregon is slated to explore an area near where new shrimp-ing grounds have been discovered.

Tests will be conducted in water 240 feet and more in depth about 20 miles off the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana coasts.

Large hauls of Brazilian type shrimp are being made by a growing fleet of fishing vessels.

Dry Tortugas Shrimpers Stand to Lose $5 Million

Key West Fleet
Hit by Weather,
Law, More Ships

By ROBERT LEE
Chief of Our Key West Bureau

KEY WEST—Shrimpers may lose an estimated million dollars in revenue because weather prevented the rich Dry Tortugas shrimp area.

Ordinarily the 90-mile stretch between Key West and the Dry Tortugas Islands in the Gulf produce a ten dollar a year business, but veteran shrimpers have predicted possible 50 per cent falloff.

"It is the worst season I have seen since coming here in 1935," said Jack Thompson, president of one of the larger shrimping concerns. "The catch is very much down, as low as 50 per cent."

Thompson heads Thompson Enterprises Inc., who operate 23 boats.

The season is unique also in another way, for more than 500 boats are fishing from this port the largest number since the Tortugas beds were discovered in 1950.

With the scarcity of shrimp however, the boats which do manage large catches are receiving the record price of 86 cents per pound.

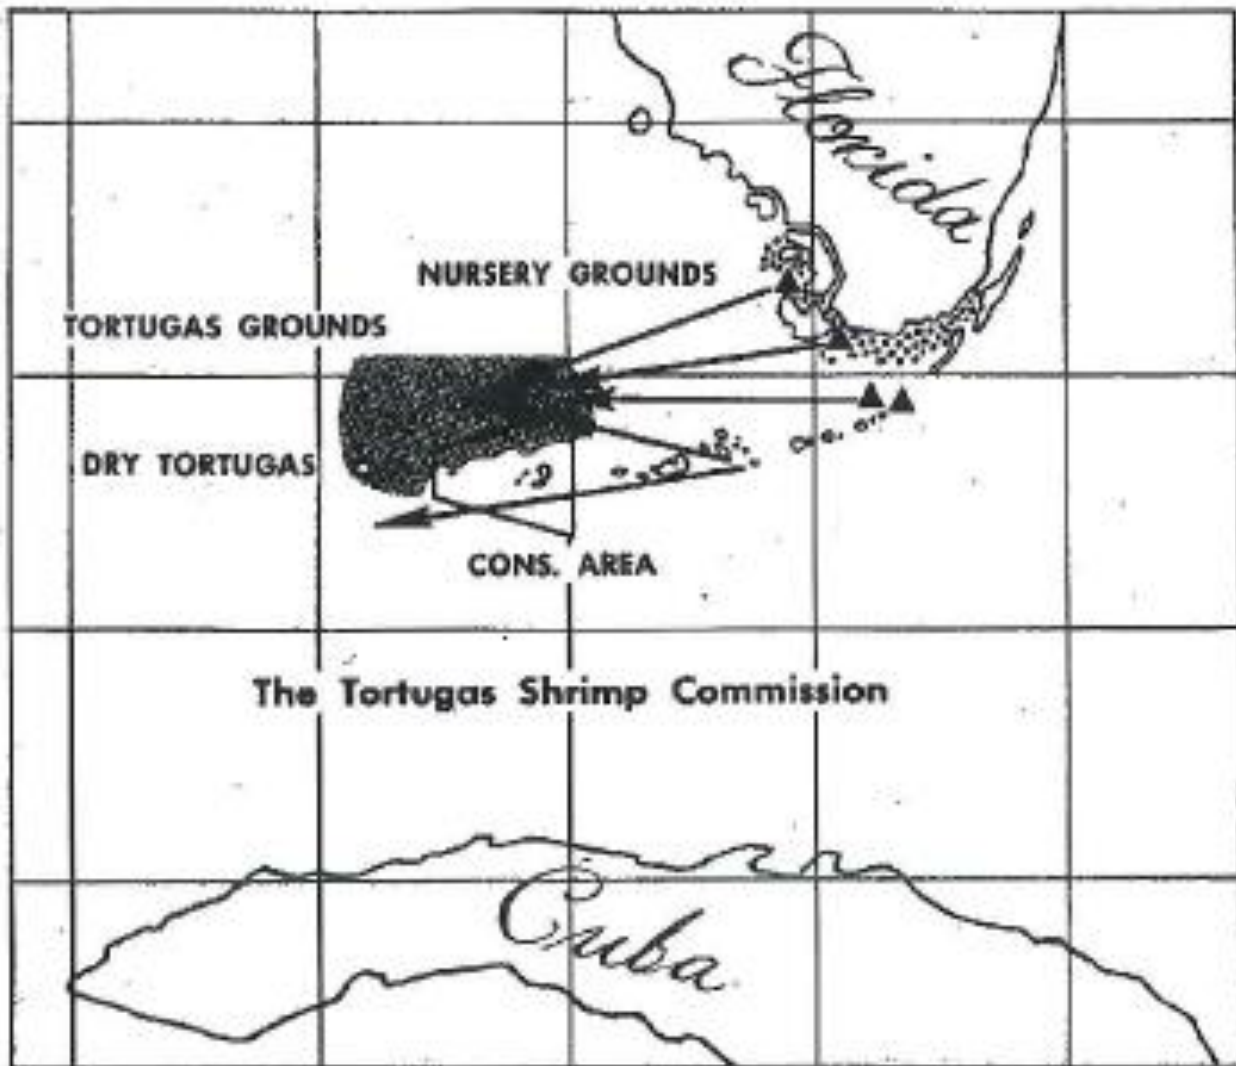

They are in the minority though, for the weather allowed only 11 days shrimping in December and 12 during January.

The catches on days the fleet could go out averaged some 250 pounds, as compared to past years when the average ran as high as 500 pounds a day.

Ordinarily the waters off Key West are excellent for shrimpers, but during rough weather the shrimp come to surface, preventing nets, which are dragged along the bottom, from catching them.

Also on the scene is a new conservation measure, put in to effect Feb. 2, in a 36 by 25 mile area of the Tortugas bed, for breeding purposes.

Installed because shrimp were being netted as small as 50 to a pound, the law is strictly enforced by conservation agents.
